In order for the HGNA Scholarship Committee to get a clearer picture of who you are as a young woman, please answer the following question (limit answer to no more than one page).

You've just become a student ambassador member of the HGNA Board of Directors. HGNA's mission as a community organization is to provide programs and resources which empower adolescent girls (4th-8th grades) to positively enhance their lives and ultimately the lives of others. As a young woman who has already navigated the difficult pre- and early teens, you likely had many experiences from which you learned and grew. What issues as a Board Member would you bring to the Board that are important to you and your peers? If you could design a seminar or event that you felt would help young girls with this/these issues, what would the subject matter be and why?
